A Party Led to Destruction.
"The so-called leaders are leading the Democratic party to distraction and destruction," remarks the Cincinnati Enquirer. The idea is all right, but the tense is wrong. The so-called leaders have led the Democratic party the way the Cincinnati critic points to.

They made opportunities to go wrong and embraced them, taking the party with them as they went. It is true that they first distracted, then destroyed. They left undone the things they promised to do, and they did some bad things of which they had given no notice when they were before the people. There is no record of any party in this country—perhaps not anywhere else—going in on such a tidal wave and in so short a time being swept out with so mighty a rush of the waters of indignation. There may be some floating timbers to be saved, but hardly enough to lay a keel.

Of the Democratic organization it may be said that its glory has departed. The so-called leaders cannot bring it back. They are not miracle-workers.

Yet a little while and President Cleveland will not have a Democratic Congress on his hands. What a relief that will be to this sorely tried man.

A. O. U. W.
Wheeling is glad to welcome the representatives of so strong and so useful an order as the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and hopes that their stay may be pleasant and profitable.

This organization had a phenomenal growth in West Virginia in the past year because it deserves to grow and because it has at its head pushing men. The creation of a separate jurisdiction for West Virginia is an acknowledgment of the good work done and the promise of further growth.

The foundation had been laid well, and if the effort be continued many more West Virginia families will have cause to bless the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

It would be a great gain to clear away the snow before it turns to slush; and there are men who would be glad to make the clearing.

Slow-Growing China.
Rev. Yung Kung Yen, of Shanghai, senior priest of the Protestant Episcopal church in China, is now in this country. In a sermon delivered in Philadelphia last Sunday he spoke of the Chinese as "people living in the nineteenth century, but whose minds are in the twentieth century before Christ."

This striking way of putting it shows how far behind the progress of the age the people of China are. It is a sufficient explanation of the ease with which the Japanese, with their modern ideas, have had their own way against a neighboring country of ten times their own population.

Rev. Yung Kung Yen, by the way, was graduated from Gambier College, Ohio, in 1861. He is reputed to be a very able man.

You made good resolutions top of with another. Resolve to keep it. It may make a man of you—or a woman, as the case may be.

Patience, Dr. Parkhurst.
Rev. Dr. Parkhurst has done so much and done it all so well that it seems ungracious to criticize him, but it is true that he forgets that the raw materials of government are men. These materials have to be managed, and they cannot be handled as bricks and stone. Nor can all the good things be accomplished in a day. It took longer to build Rome. It may take longer to regenerate New York. It would be well if the good and earnest Dr. Parkhurst had a little more patience and a little better appreciation of the kind of human nature that must be dealt with to bring about the reforms he desires.

In the matter of loss by fire the past year makes a better showing than 1893, the figures being $127,000,000 against $156,000,000. Even the smaller amount shows an immense waste, so much of the wealth of the country wiped out. Insurance rates were higher than in 1893, and so the well managed insurance companies have done better.

Policemen and Firemen.
The Philadelphia Record says justly that while the New York police department may be rotten to the core, it would be difficult to improve on her fire department, which every year makes a new record of heroism. "None but honest men, and men of heroic stuff," says the Record, "would yield up their lives at duty's call."

It is a fact that the fire departments of the country are far ahead of the police departments in point of efficiency. Perhaps the reason is to be found in the essentially different relation of the respective departments to the community.

The function of a police force is to prevent crime and to bring evil-doers to justice. This brings the opportunity and the temptation to be blind to wrong that pays for police protection. A fire department has no such opportunity and no such temptation.

SEVERAL cities want to be Greater. Why not Better?

Financial Legislation.
A majority of eight in the house is claimed for the currency bill by its friends. That is a very slim margin of claim in so large and so uncertain a body. Larger claims than this have melted under the voting.

But if the bill pass the house it will strike an insurmountable obstacle in the senate, which will not consent to a measure of this character. The probability is that a good bill could pass the senate, but it is almost to much to expect that this house can pass a good bill.

The house is so tinctured with false ideas on the money question that if it were to produce a good bill it would seem that the day of miracles had come back.

Now, then, down to solid work and get out of the New Year the best there is in it.

The Basis of Confidence.
If we had the McKinley tariff instead of the Wilson-Gorman tariff everybody would take hold of the New Year's business with a different feeling. The next best thing is the goodly promise that the country will again be under a protective tariff policy.

This confidence is well placed. The Republican party will have full control once more as soon as the country can put it in that position, and when the Republican party goes in it will give the country a Republican tariff. Nothing is safer to rely on than this.

The new year opens, as the old closed, with the war going on between China and Japan and all the world, except the men who are making money by the war, hoping that peace negotiations may go on and lead to a good result. China has been well whipped and Japan has glory enough to satisfy a bigger country. It is a good time to stop.

The sultan of Turkey enters uneasily on the New Year. The powers are about to investigate him, and this may lead to the partition of his back-number empire. This is enough to make a crowned head sad in an age which offers no new opportunities to great heads of that kind.

In the ruins of the old Delavan House, in Albany, could talk, what a tale of political wire-pulling they could unfold. That hostelry has been the scene of enough politics to make a library of history, and mighty entertaining history it would be.

In 1894 there were more arrests for drunkenness in Maine than in any previous year in the history of the state. It seems to be true of that state, at least, that the longer it lives under prohibition the less it prohibits.

The proposition that the Brooklyn Tabernacle congregation disband, leaving an indebtedness of $30,000 unprovided for, does not look well. A religious society should set a better example.

The Legislature meets January 9. The election of United States Senator will begin January 22, when each house will ballot separately. The next day both houses will meet together.

Col. Strong has taken his seat as mayor of New York. Tammany knows now that a decent man representing decent ideas can be elected mayor of New York.

The old year brought into notice a new power among the nations of the earth, and the little Japs are strutting like victorious bantams because of it.

The verb "to God!" has jumped into the vernacular. It may be defined as meaning to rip things wide open and make scurvy politicians sick.

The Ohio judge who refuses to send a prisoner south to be lynched is on the right track. He is acting in the light of some experience.

It is all very well to wish the Democratic party a happy New Year, but where is that party to find happiness? Its lights are fled.

BETTER TIMES.

But the Workmen Not Likely to Have Their Wages Restored.—Democratic Legislation Has Settled That.
Cincinnati Times-Star.

Indications of an improvement in the industrial situation and in general business are found in the latest reports from the mercantile agencies. In November of this year there was a considerable swelling of the pay-rolls as compared with the amount paid during the same month last year. The number of the employed was about ten per cent greater and the aggregate wages fifteen per cent greater. True, if comparison is made with November, 1892, the industrial condition is far from satisfactory. The number of the employed is now nine per cent less than in the closing months of 1892, and labor is paid eighteen per cent less.

The advance that has been made, however, gives ground for the expectation that the industries will in a few months, if no further unfavorable events intervene, employ as many men as in 1892. Whether wages will return to the old standard seems doubtful. There is no present tendency in any of the great industries toward a restoration of the old scale. Under the new conditions brought on by Democratic legislation the margin of profit is narrow and in many cases precariously so. Of course unless prices advance there will be no material increase in the earnings of labor. The markets now show no promise of a material rise. In view of the disastrous results of Democratic folly labor can hardly look forward with any confidence to a full recovery of the wages of 1892.

It must be said that under the circumstances labor will be extremely fortunate if it finds ample employment at the lower wages now obtaining.

CONSISTENT DEMOCRACY.

It Never Sends Millionaires to the Senate.

Oh, No!

St.—I find the following editorial paragraph in this morning's Register:
The statement that Mr. Elkins is looking toward Washington for a true residence and his apparent confidence and expectation that he will sit as Senator from West Virginia, leads the Philadelphia Record to remark: "The confidence of the millionaires, after the Republicans have obtained control of the state legislature, is something wonderful to behold." There's a hot shot for our friends, the enemy.

When we consider some things the above is really funny. One would think that so-called millionaires are never honored by the Democratic party, and that the party never sends to the United States senate or places in other high positions men who are possessed of no other recommendation than their wealth. One would naturally suppose from the paragraph quoted that the Democratic party isn't responsible for the fact that the senate consists of Millionaires Brice, Gorman, Vilas, Palmer and Camden; or for the fact that Grover Cleveland, who has accumulated ten million dollars in the past ten years, sits in the white house; or that Millionaire Whitney is talked of as an available candidate for '96. The Register, it will be remembered, supported Mr. Camden for the senate, and poured taffy all over him during the campaign.

That Mr. Elkins has accumulated wealth is true. It is also true that he has invested every dollar of it in the industrial development of West Virginia, as have Mr. Camden, Mr. Davis and other men, without whom West Virginia would still be a back-woods state. It is also true that Mr. Elkins is a man of great ability, and is splendidly equipped, not only to fill the position of senator with credit to the state, but to be a commanding figure in the senate when he gets there—a man who will take his place at once as a leader, and be in a position to do great service for his state.

As an humble citizen who will take pride in seeing the state thus represented, I hope that Mr. Elkins will find the house he is looking for in Washington, and that he will be able to occupy it for six years and as many additional terms as he desires. His wealth does not detract from his merits as a man to be honored for his personal worth.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mid-Winter Excursions to Washington, D. C.
The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company will inaugurate a series of monthly excursions to the National Capital, from Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Parkersburg, Lexington, Hagerstown and intermediate points along its lines as far east as Washington Junction, affording an excellent opportunity for a mid-winter jaunt to the national capital. The first excursion of the series is announced for Thursday, January 10. The rates are remarkably low and the time limit ample enough to allow visitors an opportunity to visit all the public buildings and institutions in Washington and make side trips to points of interest in near vicinity.

We give below a list of stations showing the time of trains and rates of fare: Wheeling, W. Va., 5:05 a. m. 5:15 p. m. $10 00
Washington, Pa. 6:25 a. m. 6:30 p. m. 10 00
Pittsburgh, Pa. 9:00 a. m. 9:20 p. m. 9 00
Parlor cars on the day express. Sleeping cars on the night express.
Correspondingly low rates from other stations.
Tickets will be good ten days, and will be valid for passage from Washington to Baltimore at any time within the life of the ticket.
For Pullman car accommodations and guide to points of interest in Washington, address nearest Baltimore & Ohio agent.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and get so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but lay with them half open. About this time, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars. The CUTICURA bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now strong, healthy, and large as any child of her age (see photo), and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's blessing, MRS.
